

Still wrestling with an unproductive love life? Afraid you'll never find that perfect match? Well now you can let

www.WrestlingM♥tch.com®

help you pin your lover's shoulders to the mat.

For almost 30 years now (give or take 3 decades), our trained staff of scientists, psychiatrists, doctors, and fight promoters have been perfecting a systematic method unparalleled in the field of online dating that brings together love-starved Pro Wrestling fans. (And let's be honest here - is there really any other kind?) While other matchmaking services waste your time trying to fix you up based on insignificant compatibility points such as race, religion, attractiveness, music, geography, age, height, education, occupation, phrenology beliefs, how often you mock color-blind people, or general nincompoopedness, we here at WrestlingM♥tch.com know what's really important in making love bloom - the shared ability to feel deeply about men in tights fighting over something that sane and moral people would avoid like a Pauly Shore Film Festival.

"But is joining WrestlingM♥tch.com easy?" you'll be saying if you want to be involved in this paragraph. "Absolutely!" we'll answer because unfortunately our contract obligates us to be involved in this paragraph. Finding your perfect mate on WrestlingM♥tch.com is as easy as pinning your lover's shoulders to the mat - 1-2-3!

1. Fill out a profile lying about your age, weight, interests, ambitions, and bitterness level.
2. Post a few pictures of yourself taken at least 4 years ago.
3. Let us distract the referee while Cupid shoots your lover in the buttocks with a foreign object.

But you say that the WrestlingM♥tch.com website is blocked at work, and there's no way in hell that you'll try to connect to a computer virus breeding ground like this one from home? Smart move. So to that end, we here at WrestlingM♥tch.com will be hosting an Open House during the high holy day of WrestleMania XXI on Sunday, April 3rd, at 4:00 p.m. This will be held in the home of our beloved Founder and Delusionary Mike McNulty (98.6 Averagetemperature Street, San Francisco, 109-901-6969, mcn_mike@sbcglobal.net). Come alone and meet your future WrestlingM♥tch, or bring your current WrestlingM♥tch to show others that it really works. And it does really work! I mean, who are you going to believe - us or those Nervous Nellies down at the Better Business Bureau?!

To show the diverse types of people (and not weirdoes, if that's what you're thinking!) who have already joined WrestlingM♥tch.com, we have included the profiles of a few of our Premium Members. This will give you a flavor of the type of high-caliber individuals who regularly post to our site and then creepily stare at it for days at a time just begging for possible new WrestlingM♥tches to appear. They're all eager. They're all Pro Wrestling fans. And they're all ready to find a WrestlingM♥tch to get their minds off the constant itching. What more could you possibly be looking for in a mate?

Lest you think that this is just another get-rich-quick scheme by the same entrepreneurs who proudly brought you www.Sendme3bucksorlltouchyouafterlcough.com, www.Thatllbe500dollarsfortheofficeXmaspartynegatives.com, and www.Andlmgointokeepcallingyouandhangingupallnightlonguntillseethemoneyinsmallunmarkedbills.com, not only did we just use the word "lest" to start this much-too-long sentence, but for crying out loud, we've used 9 different fonts on this introductory page alone and even mixed in a little bold and italics for seasoning. I mean, come on; how much more sincere could we possibly pretend to be here?!

So open your heart, your soul, your spirit, and your gallon bottle of Jack Daniel's and stop on by WrestlingM♥tch.com's Open House on April 3rd at 4:00 to find your perfect Wrestling M♥tch.

I’m a volunteer Renaissance Faire strolling minstrel who writes his own songs celebrating “Babylon 5”, “Harry Potter”, “Dungeons and Dragons”, Professional Wrestling, and my blessed and sainted Mother, to whom no other woman could ever measure up. Hi, Mother! Here’s a sample of my work. Can I write one for you (if Mother approves of you)? It’s called “My Favorite Heels”, and I’ve sung it in karaoke bars, showers, buses, and earnest (to the tune of “My Favorite Things” from “The Sound of Music”.) It’s in the key of C, as all Pro Wrestling songs should be.

Piper and Blassie and Gorilla Monsoon.

The original Sheik,
most thought him a goon.

Abdullah the Butcher
as his foe squeals.

These are a few
of my favorite heels.

Terry, and Senior,
and Dory Funk, Junior.

Ric Flair is The Man, WOOO!
I love how he’ll moon ya.

Killer Kowalski’s blood
as it congeals.

These are a few
of my favorite heels.

Jake the Snake Roberts is evil and scary.

George the Animal Steele – man, he is hairy.

When Heenan is beaten,
over he keels.

These are a few
of my favorite heels.

When Junkyard Dog bites.

Please, no more Sting.

Hey, that’s Ernie Ladd!

I simply remember
my favorite heels.

And then I don’t feel so bad.

(Note: Not all pictures were taken before the accident.)

I'm 275 pounds of twisted steel and sex appeal. I'm the women's pet and the men's regret. I'm not just a member of the "That Man Looks Hot Enough To Put Onions And Mustard On And Eat" club, I'm the ONLY member! I may not have much upstairs but, Good God, what a staircase!

When you're with me, you'll have constant access to my hair products, body oils, tan in a can, roofies, and fits of violent rage, followed by tearful apologies and flowers from a gas station. That's right – I'm one of those men who's not afraid to show my emotions, and I know you babes just love that.

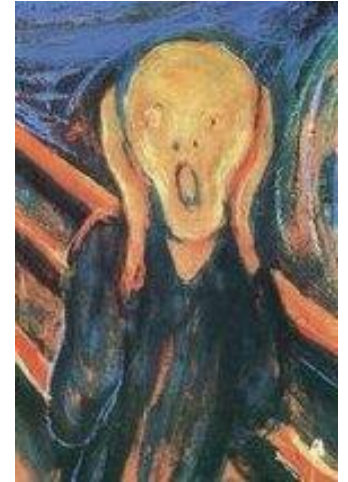

Are you a woman who understands the value of two mirrors in every room? A woman who will get up at least 90 minutes before me so I won't have to see what you really look like? A woman who is often mistaken on the street for a prostitute or baseball player's wife? Then we might be a good WrestlingM♥tch.

And just so you know that I'm not unreasonable in my demands about a woman's physical appearance, it doesn't matter to me if you're a natural blonde or bleached blonde. Now call me an old-fashioned gentleman if you must, but I believe that it's very important for a man to open his Beamer's door for you when you're wearing red high heel shoes, a micro-mini-skirt, and no panties.

To sum up, I'm looking to start a loving, trusting, unconditional, long-term relationship with a confused woman who is always 23 years old. Artificial bosom parts are okay.

Ciao!

Yes, I've had "problems"; who hasn't? But I end up "stronger" every time I get "left at the altar". My "optimism", "belief" in the white man's "God", and oxycontin give me the strength to "carry on". I don't care what my "papers" say; I am "happy"!☺

According to my "astrologer", in addition to my "gullibility", my best "feature" is my "sense of humor". Don't "believe" me? Well, once we start an interminable string of "emails" that will never "culminate" in us meeting "in person", you'll see that I "pepper" them with "lol", "☺", "HA HA!", "lmao", and once I feel "comfortable" enough with you, even "rotflmao". ☺ (See, I just "used" one of "them" right there! I really am "funny" like that. HA HA!)

I live my "life" according the following "quote" that my "Dad" taught me and my 11 "brothers" and "sisters" as we were "growing up": "For Christ's sake, stop your crying, or I'll give you something to really cry about!" ☺

When I'm not "trying on" "wedding dresses", I like to do "yoga"; take long "walks" in the "park"; go to my "book clubs"; do "gardening"; watch "foreign" films; go "camping"; "golf"; "play" with my 7 "cats"; go to "wine-tastings"; "bike"; "listen" to "music"; go to the "gym"; watch "ballet"; "travel"; "ski"; "teach" underprivileged "children" to "read"; go to the "beach"; "meditate"; watch "Pro Wrestling"; try "new" restaurants; "laugh"; and "especially" "use" "my" "down" "time" "to" "just" "grow" "as" "a" "human" "being" "and" "Patriotic" "Republican" "NRA" "member". ☺

If I could "do lunch" with "anyone", I don't know "who" it would "be", if you "know what I mean". (Will "you" please email "me" and tell "me" why "I" bothered to "type" that here. "Maybe" you could "make" it "a" funny "ice-breaker" type "email". HA HA!) ☺

I'm really "hoping" to meet a "man" who doesn't "yell", will "appreciate" what I have to "offer", and is ready to "commit" to someone "special". He is "kind", "forgiving", "understanding", "patient", "merciful", "sympathetic", "rich", "handsome", and already owns a "tux". Thank "you"! ☺

Despite being a Hollywood superstar, Broadway legend, and Maybelline hoof model (retired), I am just not lucky in love. It seems that most men are intimidated by my unique beauty and my ability to lift 385 pounds over my head 12 times in a row. Finding that one special man to share my life and studded leather collar with has eluded me. Might it be you?

This little-known fact about me shows my bad luck with men. Years ago, I was burned out and needed to get as far away from show business as I possibly could. Seeing as how I've been handy with a hydraulic jackhammer since I was a little girl, I went to work on the Alaska Pipeline in the 1970s. Unfortunately, during my 3 years there as the only woman, the employees voted 29,999 to 1 to institute a "No Opposite Sex Fraternization Policy". How's that for some bad luck?!

I'm a low maintenance type of gal who is pretty much up for anything. I'm as comfortable in jeans and a flannel shirt competing in a full-contact Lumberjack Competition as I am in white gloves and a backless evening gown heading out to the opera. (However, I do need a 3-day notice before the opera to have my back and shoulders shaved.)

I'm really not too picky in what I look for in a man – just one who doesn't mind chewing tobacco stains on the carpet and can take a serious punch. Plus, it would be great if we could wear each other's shoes – size 13, men's.

While I know deep down in my heart that the only man for me is a writer/editor in San Francisco named "Mike", until he and I can finally meet, I'd really love to date (read: "arm wrestle") one of you WrestlingM♥tch.com men – winner gets to wear the pants for a week. XXXOOO
