

Our Bad

Corrections are read at the end of The Tonight Show.

Jimmy Fallon: "Here at The Tonight Show, we take our position as Television Journalists very seriously. No fake news for our viewers. For that reason, Steve Higgins is now our real-time Fact-Checker, who keeps us honest as the show goes on. Steve, how did we do tonight?"

Higgins: "Earlier, we introduced Will Ferrell as 'one of our most talented and beloved actors and funnymen.' That is not true. In fact, he is barely tolerable."

"We said that Chris Pratt was our all-time favorite guest. We were wrong. Our favorite guest ever is Gwyneth Paltrow." Paltrow walks on-stage, tears up a headshot of Pratt, then leaves.

"We announced earlier in the show that on November 18th, Mel Gibson would be hosting his 'We Hate Women & Jews Pancake Breakfast'. We have just been told by his lawyers that we must read this statement: 'The breakfast is really on November 19th, a Sunday'."

"We stated that Jimmy Fallon was a wonderful boss and that everyone here just loved working for him. I don't know what we were thinking." Cut to a shot of a mad and surprised Fallon. Cut back to Higgins who is ripping up a headshot of Fallon.
