

THINGS THAT HAVE NEVER EVER BEEN SAID

Hi Mr. Limbaugh. First-time caller, long-time thinker.

My Irish Mother is so happy that I'm moving in with my pregnant girlfriend.

When I'm walking by myself on a deserted road in the South, I immediately feel safe when someone hidden in the bushes screams "YEEHAW!"

It's pretty cold out there. You'll be needing those extra-large gloves today, President Trump.

That Anne Hathaway movie was great!

Haikus are the way to a man's heart.

I can't think of anything to rhyme with "There once was a man from Nantucket."

The scientific community finally agrees with my minister that rain is really just God splashing water out of His sitz bath.

I'm so sorry, everyone, but we just ran out of the tofu liverloaf.

She's being quiet about it, but Taylor Swift and I broke up.

I don't understand why Bill Cosby doesn't tour any more.

It's just so hard to get a ride home from a party with these large breasts.